Set up in 1996, Mécénat Chirurgie Cardiaque gives children who live in disadvantaged countries and suffer from heart defects the opportunity to have an operation performed in France when they cannot receive treatment in their own country due to lack of financing or technical resources.

They are hosted by volunteer foster families throughout their time in France.

UNICEF France is a not-for-profit association of general interest governed by the French law of 1901. Its principal aims follow:

- raise public awareness of children's rights and living conditions around the world, and of UNICEF's action;
- raise funds and (after deducting overheads) transfer them to UNICEF, which allocates them to programmes designed to achieve its objectives.

VINCI Energies and UNICEF France signed a partnership agreement to support outreach projects in Brazil, Benin and Timor-Leste.

The objective is to provide high-quality education for children by providing access to digital technology. This four-year partnership aims to provide equal access to the Internet and IT tools to pupils aged 6 to 18. The projects in the 3 countries will reach 56 schools and benefit 400 teachers and over 20,000 children.

The children will be able to build their own digital skills, learn anywhere and anytime, and open up new possibilities for their future.
